Email Billing Statements and Appointment Reminders

Once your account is established, you will be receiving your billing statement via email. I will set up the account for you in my billing system, TherapyAppointment.com. You will need to establish a login name and initial password on this form in order for me to do so.

You can also receive an appointment reminder to your email address, your cell phone (via a text message), or your home phone (via a computer generated voice message) the day before your scheduled appointments.
